

EAC/Young Illinois Saves Joins Panel at College Credit Event

WHAT: The Economic Awareness Council (“EAC”) will be participating in a panel discussion and providing some student resources, donated by the Charter One Foundation, at the Office of the City Treasurer of Chicago, the Honorable Stephanie D. Neely’s College Credit Event. The EAC is just one of many interesting groups attending this program. The EAC will highlight the need for budgeting and saving as well as the protection from credit card debt that an emergency savings fund can offer during their portion of this discussion. The EAC will distribute Get Real: Financial Decisions in the Real World materials regarding financial goal setting, budgeting and credit as well as Young Illinois Saves materials. The EAC will register students in the Young Illinois Saves movement and answer student questions.

WHO: The College Credit event is offered by the Office of the City Treasurer of Chicago, Stephanie D. Neely. Chicago college students will participate in this event. Get Real materials for this event were donated by the Charter One Foundation. Contact the City Treasurer at savechicago@cityofchicago.org for further information about this event.
